PREFACE.

1164591

It is the custom of some persons to depreciate and even to ridicule genealogical inquiries and labors. The study of pedigree seems to them not only tedious, but profitless. They have no reverence or love for the past, and it is a matter of indifference who their ancestors were, or whether they ever had any. This is sometimes an eccentricity, sometimes a proud independence, which ignores ancestry in order to increase its own importance and show that its highest honors have not been attained through the wealth, patronage or name of progenitors. But a more fruitful cause of this low estimate has been the boasting and arrogance of some with reference to their distinguished ancestors. There is a false and a foolish pride of lineage which deserves censure and ridicule. It was such conceit that prompted a retort of Cicero, when a patrician said to him: "You are a plebian." "I am a plebian," replied the eloquent Roman orator, "and the nobility of my family begins with me; but that of your's will end with you." The vain reliance upon remote and doubtful pedigree, and the arrogant assumption of place and honor by reason of distinguished descent is without corresponding merit.

The more one studies history, and races, and families, the more he must be convinced of the marked and permanent influences of blood, despite all the crossings by intermarriages. Every genealogist has marked and marveled at the continuance from generation to generation of some particular type of character that was visible in the earliest known ancestor. This fact has been strikingly illustrated in the two Thayer families and their descendants to this day; it is visible to any man of talent. To read aright the lesson of human history, to reach wise and safe generalizations, one must not forget the law of descent and force there is in blood or race.

'Tis poor, and not becoming perfect gentry,
To build their glories at their father's cost;
But at their own expense of blood or virtue,
To raise them living monuments; our birth
Is not our own act; honor upon trust,
Our ill deeds forfeit; and the wealthy sums
Purchased by others' fame or sweat, will be
Our stain, for we inherit nothing truly
But what our actions make us worthy of.

The origin of the Thayer name is, as all sirnames are, signified by the occupation followed by the persons, as Smith, Sawyer, Cooper, &c., and others signified by the locality of the persons, as Hill, Pond, &c., and others some personal peculiarity, as Strong, Brown, White, &c. Many others, for some cause have the names of animals and birds; for them see names as Lyon, Fox, or Swan, &c. The word Thayer, as Judge Horace Metcalf's note to Dr. Elisha Thayer, of Dedham, Mass., who had examined the English law reports on the subject of the Thayer name spelled in the different ways in those reports: Thayer, Thear, Their, Theyer, &c. The Thear is of German origin, and in that language signifies an ox or a cow, or dealer in such, as I am told, consequently it seems probable that our ancestors took their sirname from th continent, and it is synonymous with a bullock in the English language. We do al know that England was overrun by the Danes and Saxons one thousand years ago, more or less, and the counties of Kent and Essex, on the east coast of England, passed into the possession of those marauders composed of intruders from the opposite coast. We next find a coat of arms conferred on Augustine Thayer, of Thaydom, a small village in the county of Essex, and about eighteen miles north of London. We also know that our ancestors when coming to this country chose their residence in Braintree, Mass.

The publication of the following pages was designed to perpetuate to future generations the record of genealogy, in direct line, back to their first appearance in Braintree, Mass., in 1630, or thereabouts, which settlement is familiar to a large portion of the present generation, being taught in their schools and read by their firesides. The trials they endured on their first arrival and for a number of years afterwards, by sickness and death, by want of provisions, by terror by night and day from the howlings of the savage beasts and more savage men, will not cease to be interesting to their descendants to the latest period of time.

It may not be uninteresting to give a short sketch of the ecclesiastical history of the first settlers of New England, in which not only they were concerned, but all of their posterity, to the present day. The first settlers of Plymouth Colony (1620) were called "Separatists," having separated from the Established Church of England some years previous to their settlement in this country. In 1596 they (the Separatists) published their "Confession of Faith," with the grounds of separation; re-printed in 1604. But their sufferings and writings soon increased their numbers, and more of the warmer Puritans embraced their doctrines, left the public churches and met in private houses for a purer worship; but then they lost the name of Puritan, and received that of Separatists. The far greater part of the Puritans remained still in the church, writing with zeal against the separations, and as Sprent, on their behalf, in 1608, expresses it: "A separation we deny not from the corruptions of the church wherein we live, in judgment, profession, practice, for which so many of both parts (or parties, i. e., of Puritans and separatists,) have suffered and do suffer so many things, but the difference is, we (i. e., the Puritans,) suffer for separating in the church.—Prince's Annals, I, 235. And those of Massachusetts Colony (1630) were called Puritans, as the author says, p. 234: "Of these English Puritans were the greater part of the Massachusetts Colony. They had been chiefly born and brought up in the National Church, and had hitherto lived in communion with her. As their ministers had been ordained by her bishops, they had officiated in her parochial churches, and till now had made no secession from them." In a poem written by Roger Woolcott, Esq., published in the Mass. Hist. Coll., IV, 263, are the following curious lines:

"But if you ask to gain intelligence,
What were the reasons they went from thence,
What straits they met with in their way and there,
These facts I think I'm able to declare.
Religion was the cause; Divinity
Having declared the Gospel shine (light) should be
Extensive as the sun's diurnal shine.
This moved our founders to this great design."

A vast fund of information relative to the political and ecclesiastical state of our ancestors may be collected from the Plymouth Memorial and other histories of that Colony, and from Winthrop's Journal of Massachusetts, Hutchinson, Prince, Holmes, &c. But after all, Mr. Farmer says something respecting those who have preceded us in the stage of action, and there has begun a curiosity among many of the present generation to trace back their progenitors in an uninterrupted series, to those who first landed on the bleak, inhospitable shores of New England, and it is not improbable that the arrival of the Puritan fathers of New England will form a more memorable epoch in history than the Conquest of England does in that country, and that posterity, a few centuries hence, will experience as much pleasure in tracing back their ancestry to the New England colonist, as some of the English feel able to deduce their descent from the Normans. There is a satisfaction in recognizing our first ancestors from the European continent; in knowing from what part of England they came; where they settled, and the condition of their families. Owing to the trials and hardships endured by the first settlers of New England, the uncertainty of their remaining in the country, and the little time afforded for recording family data and genealogical facts, there are but few families who have full and complete satisfaction in each of these particulars. But some facts, even at this late period, might be known of almost every individual who settled in any of the colonies, if suitable patience, research and industry were employed in collecting them. Our earliest records and memorials are full of information, and in regard to minuteness and accuracy, will bear a comparison with modern date; and it is somewhat remarkable that so large a portion of them have escaped the many perils to which fire and the aboriginal wars exposed them. The records are in a gradual state of decay, and many of them in a very shattered condition; many names and dates have already become obliterated, and portions lost, and probably lost forever. Every effort should therefore be made to rescue these precious relics of antiquity from the ravages of time. It is argued by such as underrate genealogical research, that every claim upon esteem of others is founded on character, and that this embodies every quality that can justly command the affection and reverence of man, but as character is not altogether isolated from nor independent of ancestral fountains from which the native impulses, the mental and moral tendencies and forces have come, the subject of pedigree belongs clearly to the history of every man's mind and life. Our ancestors live in us; though dead, they speak. In nature, below man, the various orders of beings, animate and inanimate, do little more than repeat ancestral forms and habits. Man also is a derivation from the past, and ought to be considered and weighed in connection with it. The study of genealogy, therefore has important scientific and moral uses. It summons the past to interpret the lives of men with respect to physical, mental and moral character. It shows how the past has poured itself into our present life. It embalms in the memory of the living, the lessons, examples and obligations of an honorable lineage; and as the Romans, when emigrating to a foreign clime, took with them the carved images of their fathers, and set them in the choicest places of their new homes, so it sets the images of our ancestors before us to be an inspiration and benediction to our life.

MATTERS PERSONAL.—ORIGIN OF THE WORK.—In retiring from the manufacturing business, and having a dsire to know something of the race and name, the subscriber, in 1859, commenced looking up the records of the Thayer name in America, and first found that Richard and Thomas Thayer and their families were the two first and only families that ever came to America and settled. (I find no record of any other family.) In all of my correspondence I have not found a family or name but what has been traced to Richard or Thomas Thayer's families, and the first legal knowledge I have of those families is that Richard Thayer was admitted freeman in 1640, and Thomas Thayer was freeman and received title of lands in 1636. From the best information I can get, they must have come with the Massachusetts colony, in 1630 or thereabouts, as we find them with many other families that came from Braintree, Essex County, England, who named their new town the same as the one they left in England, and as a coat of arms was granted to the Thayer name in England, and I have a copy of it from the Lincolnfield heraldic office, as there recorded.

The compiler has been successfully collecting information respecting a majority of the lineal descendants of these two families. One who has had no experience in genealogical inquiries can form no just idea of the amount of labor required to collect and arrange the names and the materials of the biography of the widely scattered and numerous descendants of these two families, through a period of nearly two and a half centuri The labor of extensive correspondence, examination of town and state records, histories ancient wills and deeds; labor greatly increased also by the delay, and in some cases of refusal of those from whom information was sought; his labor arising from these sources; delay and indifference, the compiler has reason to suppose have not been greater than a family historian might expect. But no complete and accurate genealogy can be prepared without an expenditure of time and money for which no adequate remuneration can be expected, save in the pleasure attending such pursuits, and the consciousness of doing something, in grateful reverence, to enshrine in a permanent memorial the lives and virtues of one's ancestors and kindred—a memorial which, while it may be no mean offering to their worth, it may also be to the descendants full of inspiration to piety and patriotism, as they trace their lineage from the self-sacrificing founders of civilization and the brave defenders of freedom in the New World. The compiler has spared no pains or expense to procure thoroughness and accuracy; records have been examined and re-examined, and all correspondence, some of it illegible and its facts badly arranged, has been carefully compiled and copied. As the highest merit in a genealogy is correctness, this has been sedulously labored for, and if persistent efforts to verify dates, harmonize conflicting statements, and make a memorial complete and reliable, can accomplish the object, the work is a success. If any do not find so full an account of themselves and families as was anticipated, it is because in most instances no more was furnished. To some extent there has been a condensation of the material; but generally in respect to those who have evinced no interest in their publication, as justice demanded that subscribers and their families should have the largest space consistent with the plan of the book. Various traditions obtain in some branches of the family respecting their ancestors and the time of their emigration to this country: but what is stated in this book concerning their advent, is sustained by abundant and incontestable proof. None of these traditions reach back far enough into the early history of New England.

In early records, it will be observed, that the dates were specified by numerical figures, in many instances, as: 30th day, 6th month, 1653; or, 12th month, 3d day, 1657. See "Record No. 2 of this work, &c., which method of computation was continued until 1752, the year beginning on the 25th of March, which was called the 1st month, February the 12th, September, October, November and December then having the numerical rank agreeably to their Latin etymology, which is now done away with. To the dates of birth, marriages, deaths, &c., recorded prior to 1752, eleven days should be added, to make the old style correspond with the new. This rule will apply in most instances, but there are exceptions.

In conclusion, to use the language of another, on a similar occasion: "The object of the author has been to throw light on a subject of which, necessarily, very many must have been ignorant; and although this may not have been effected in the best manner possible, he is conscious of having done it as well as he could. If the collection should be found in any degree useful, the purpose will be answered."

No. 572. V G. GEN. SYLVANUS THAYER.

Fifth child of Nathaniel and Dorcas Thayer was born in Braintree, Mass., 9 June, 1785. Never married.

In early life, he resided with his uncle, Azariah Faxon, in Washington, N. H., and taught school at the age of seventeen. He was a graduate of Dartmouth College, on which occasion he pronounced the valedictory. He was offered an appointment as cadet at West Point, before leaving college. After a brief course at the military school, he entered the army as Second Lieutenant of Infantry, 1807, and was commissioned Second Lieutenant of Engineers, February 22, 1808. Was promoted to First Lieutenant, July 1, 1812, and Capt. of Engineers, October 13, 1813; was Chief Engineer of the Northern Army, under the command of Maj. Gen. Dearborn, in the campaign of 1812, of the right division of the same army, under command of Maj. Gen. Hampton, to whom he was Aid-de-Camp in the campaign of 1813, and of the forces under the command of Brig. Gen. Moses Porter, in the defence of Norfolk, Va., in 1814. "For distinguished and meritorious services at Norfolk," he was promoted to the rank of Major by Brevet, February 20, 1815.

In May, 1815, Maj. Thayer was sent by the U. S. Government to Europe, in company with William McRee, of the Corps of Engineers, to examine the French fortifications, and to study more thoroughly the science of war as practiced in the army of Napoleon. They sailed in the frigate Congress, Capt. Morris. After a month's voyage, they learned, on entering the English Channel, that the battle of Waterloo had been fought two days before. The plan was therefore changed, and in Paris, occupied immediately after by the allied forces, they enjoyed the best opportunities for perfecting a military education, while witnessing daily the evolutions of the troops who had routed the legions of the modern Cæsar. In September, 1816, Maj. Thayer received orders to complete the examinations he had yet to make by the following Spring, and then return to his native land. After his arrival, he became, July 28, 1817, Superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy, at West Point.

He now entered on that distinguished career of administration, which has made that institution so celebrated as a school of military science. He found the academy weak, imperfectly organized, low in its requisitions, and inferior in its advantages of acquirement; he raised it by his zeal, energy and unwearied diligence, to a degree of excellence which will bear a favorable comparison with the Polytechnic School formed under Napoleon's own master guidance. Unequalled in our service for the extent of his military reading, unless perhaps by his companion in European travel, the brilliant Col. McRee, already mentioned, he brought to the discharge of his important functions, eminent personal qualities ; uniting decision with courtesy, authority with kindness, and knowledge with consideration for ignorance; a strict disciplinarian yet parental in his conduct ; of unflattering integrity, and unshrinking firmness, always true to his country and to himself, he was in no ordinary degree fitted for the station he so long and so honorably filled. With the powerful aid and co-operation of Mr. Calhoun, then secretary of war, and his successors, and still more by his own skill and energy, he triumphed over countless obstacles, and achieved the most entire success. A ripe scholar himself, he introduced into the academy the Analytic Mathematics, pursued with so much advantage in the French military schools, and made them to be considered what they truly are, the ground work of a military education. To his labors and influence, the country owes in no stinted measure, not only the high state of improvement which has ever since characterized West Point, but the advanced state of military profession in our land. Nor have we any hesitation in attributing to the system inaugurated by him much of the skill, the science, and the discipline, which were so signally witnessed in our armies during the Mexican war, and which led to such extraordinary results. We have more pleasure in stating what we believe to be equally true, that much of the skill and success which have attended the departments of military and civil engineering, as applied not only to the defence of our frontiers, but the survey of our coasts and harbors, and the construction of our canals and railways, may be traced ultimately to the course of mathematical training pursued at West Point.

It is worthy of special remark, that no changes have been found necessary in the organization and government of the academy, at West Point, since the period of Gen. Thayer's connection with it, but everything remains precisely as he established it in 1817, fifty years ago. The institution while under his charge numbered 1631 pupils and 690 graduates.

His health having suffered from his close attention to the affairs of the academy he was, at his own solicitation, transferred to another sphere of service, after the examination, 1833. After leaving West Point, Gen. Thayer had charge of the fortifications in Boston Harbor till February, 1857. During most of this period he had charge also of the fortifications between that city and the British Provinces. In December, 1843, his health requiring a voyage, he went a second time to Europe, under a commission from the U. S. Government, to examine the state of military science and the fortifications on that continent. In pursuance of this design he visited France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Prussia, Austria, and Hungary ; then by way of Greece and Egypt, on his tour, and returning to his native shores the last of June, 1846.

Hundreds of his former pupils are still in the army, some of them holding high commands, others are officers in the militia of the several States ; many have been, and still are employed in the examination of our coasts and harbors, in the survey of railroads, and in the preparation of valuable scientific works. Some have been Presidents and Professors in Colleges ; others have been members of the National or State Legislatures ; others still have occupied civil offices of various grades, up to that of Governor of a State and Minister Plenipotentiary. Graham, Vinton, Ringgold, Morris, McKee, Clay, and not a few more fell while gallantly leading the charge on the fields of Mexico.

Gen. Thayer was made Brevet Lieut. Col., March 3, 1823, "for distinguished and meritorious services," Brevet Colonel, March 3, 1833. Lieut. Col. July 7, 1838. He has been a member of the U. S. Board of Engineers since April 2, 1833, and of this board he was President. The degree of A. M. was conferred on him by his Alma Mater, 1810, and by Harvard College, 1811. The honorary degree of L. L. D. was conferred on him by St. John's Coll., Md., 1839 ; by Kenyon Coll., Ohio, 1846 ; by Dartmouth Coll. 1846; by Harvard Coll., 1851. Member of American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 1834 ; and of American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia, 1838.

His donations in lifetime to Dartmouth College are well known as about $70,000. To the town of Braintree he has become obligated to contribute about $30,000 for a public library. His will, after sundry family bequests, provides that the residue shall constitute a fund for the establishment of an educational institution in which civil engineering and kindred branches shall be specialties, while the whole shall be of a high character, comparing favorably with any first-class academy in the State; to be located conditionally in Braintree, otherwise in Quincy or Randolph, and for the benefit principally of those towns. The fund for these purposes is variously estimated at from $150,000 to $200,000. The trustees of this fund are Hon. George T. Bigelow, Wm. S. Dexter, Esq., Rev. Geo. A. Thayer, of Boston, Hon. Asa French, of Braintree, Solomon Lincoln, of Hingham, Doctor Ebenezer Alden and Seth Turner, of Randolph, and possibly others. The Executors of Gen. Thayer's will are Hon. Josiah P. Cooke, William S. Dexter, Esq., Rev. George A. Thayer, of Boston, and Seth Turner, of Randolph.

Gen. Thayer died September 7, 1872, aged 87.

—[MSS. Nathaniel Thayer, D. D.

HIS EPITAPH.

In memory of the Rev. Ebenezer Thayer, who for nearly twenty-six years dispensed the Bread of Life to the society in this place, (Hamden, N. H.) and on the 6th Sept., 1792, fell asleep in Jesus, supported by the Christian hope of a resurrection to Eternal Life. Aged 58.

While o'er this modest stone Religion weeps,
Beneath, a humble, cheerful Christian sleeps;
Sober, learned, prudent, free from care and strife,
He filled the useful offices of life ;
Admired, endeared, as husband, father, friend,
Peace blest his days, and innocence his end ;
Blameless throughout, his worth by all approved,
True to his charge, and by his people loved ;
He lived to make his hearers' faith abound,
And died that his own virtues might be crowned.

Mrs. Thayer survived her consort till 1809, when she died, in Boston, leaving that good name which is better than precious ointment.—Alden's Coll. 2, 65.

No. 1298. I A. THOMAS THAYER.

A progenitor of a numerous offspring, by some said to be a distinct race from Richard, but it is not positively known as to the facts. Both families settled in the same town (Braintree, Mass.,) about the same time, as the records show that the marriages of their children were recorded very near together; and as many intermarriages have taken place, it would make them relatives. Thomas and Margery Thayer, it appears, brought with them from England three sons :

1. Thomas.
2. Ferdinando.
3. Shadrach.

I think that must be all of his family, as in his will he mentions no other names.

COPY OF THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THOMAS THAYER.

I, Thomas Thayer, of Braintree, in the County of Suffolk, in the Massachusetts Colony, of New England, shoe maker, being in perfect health and memory, praised be to God, this 21 of June, A. Further, my will and mind is that the said Ferdinanda, my sonne, shall have the free liberty to cut, fall, and carrie away, fire wood for his and his now wife's own burning, off and from my lot, called 20 acre lott, for his and his said wife's life.

Item, I give and bequeath 20 acres of land more unto my sonne, his heirs and assigns, next and immediately after the disease of my said wife, Margery, which land lyeth in Braintree, aforesaid, next unto the ground of Henry Neale, provided he, his heirs, and assigns, permit and suffer my son Ferdinando, and his now wife, take wood thereof for their own burning, for their natural lives according as is before expressed.

Item, I give and bequeath all my goods and chattles unto my grand children, to be equally divided among them.

And lastly, if any of my said children shall appear to be discontented, and murmur at this my last Will and Testament, then my will and mind is that any such child, one or more of them shall have but 5 s. for their portion, and the portion or portions of any such child or children murmuring and discontented as aforesaid, shall be equally divided among the rest of my children and grand children.

And I do nominate and appoint my said wife Margery, and my son Ferdinando, to be my executors, of this my last Will and Testament ; and all other former Wills and Testaments and bequeaths, I do hereby utterly revoke and make void forever by these presents. In Witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal, the day and year above written.

Berry as Provost Marshal of his Brigade. Afterwards served as A. D. C. to Gen. de-Trobriand for several months, and in the spring of 1863 was commissioned 1st Lieut., and during the winter of 1863–4 served as A. D. C. to Maj. Gen. French, commanding the 3d Army Corps. In April, 1864, on the recommendation of Gens. French, Pierce and de-Trobriand, was commissioned by President Lincoln as Capt. and A. Q. M. Vols., and stationed in Washington, D. C., as Post Quartermaster. In the spring of 1865 he was relieved and accompanied Maj. Gen. Meigs to North Carolina with dispatches for Gen. Sherman, returned to Washington on the 13th April, and next evening went to Ford's Theatre, where he witnessed the assassination of President Lincoln, and in company with another officer conveyed the first information of the sad affair to Secretary Stanton and Chief Justice Chase. He soon afterwards received orders to go to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, where he was placed on duty auditing accounts and paying the indebtedness of the Department of the Missouri. Remained on this duty until January, 1866, when he was ordered by the Secretary of War to Fort Lyon, Colorado, whither he proceeded by coach from Kansas City, taking with him two clerks, and having a terribly cold and severe ride, being out fourteen nights, and all nearly perishing. Served at Fort Lyon until December, 1866, and then at his own request was relieved from duty and ordered to Washington to settle his accounts, which covered nearly three millions of dollars of public money. In 1865 he received from President Johnson a Brevet as Major, for meritorious services during the war, and in February, 1867, was honorably discharged, after which he settled at Denver, Colorado. He served the town in the office of selectman eighteen years, and was chosen Representative of his town for seventeen consecutive years, and was one of the Council in 1776. And further tribute of respect to the memory of a worthy character was presented by the Rev. Ezra Wild, of Braintree, for the Massachusetts Gazette.

13 Feb., (7) 1794, aged 73, after a sore conflict for many years, deeply pressed, in the arms of his affectionate offspring and other condoling friends, fell asleep the Hon. Ebenezer Thayer, for some time of the Council Board, and for many years the Representative of the ancient town of Braintree. His person and aspect was pleasing to the eye, while a condescending applicability touched the heart, and gained the esteem of a numerous acquaintance. Genteel and graceful were his manners, his affection tender and flowing; naturally hospitable and generous, many tasted the fruits of his bounty; friendly to religion and virtue, he contributed to their support with cheerfulness, and while health remained, the House of God, sacred to worship, witnessed his presence with such as keep Holy Day—an example honorable in all to imitate. He lived to see and lament the vanity of all worldly parade and the unnecessary dissipation of the present age.

He now sleeps where the weary are at rest, waiting the final summons of the last trump, when the breath of God shall reanimate his honorable dust.

Hush, then, the filial flowing tear,
Nor call him back, again the galling shafts of envy to sustain,
Or drink anew the bitter cup of time,
Or over human woes to shed more tears!
Adieu, thou friendly sleeping shade, adieu!

Hon. Ebenezer Thayer, died 1808, aged 62 years, 8 mos. 30 days.

Hon. Ebenezer Thayer, served the town many years as Selectman, Town Clerk and Treasurer; was chosen their representative for many years; chosen and served as counsellor, and was appointed the first sheriff of Norfolk county, Mass.; Justice of the Peace throughout the Commonwealth, &c., all of which offices he filled with integrity, and with no less usefulness to the public, than honor to himself. He rose from grade to grade in the military, to Brigadier-General; he left a fair reputation, one which his enemies respected and envied.

His sons were seven in number, four of whom survived him; he died of general debility, consequent on the stopping of a severe cough, for which he was exercised for nearly 20 years. His death, though somewhat sudden, was easy; his senses unimpaired, his mind calm and unruffled, he died like a real disciple of that pure religion, for which he for many years, was a professor, 30 May, 1804.

NOTE.—Ferdinando Thayer, second son of Thomas and Margery Thayer, resided with his parents in Braintree, Mass., until after the death of his father, when he and others removed to a new plantation, called Nipmug, afterwards called Mendon, Worcester County, Mass. He was one of the largest proprietors of the said township; his residence or homestead was a liitle south of the present center of the town, on the Providence Road; held many offices of honor in his town and commonwealth; was a man of wealth in his day and age of the world, and his sons were all provided with farms by him, and several of his sons became extensive land dealers, and many of their descendants occupy those farms to this day, and have never changed names in title for over two hundred pears; six of his children born in Mendon, Mass., the records of which were destroyed by King Phillips war from 1666 to 1680, which is lost by that war—Preserved Smith Thayer.

Mendon was first settled by the whites as a plantation in 1662, and continued in that union until 1667, when it was invested with town privileges by the general court of the commonwealth, and so remained until the breaking out of the Indian hostilities in 1675, when the settlement was broken up, the settlers flying to Braintree and Weymouth, where they staid till 1679 or '80, to January 3d, 1680, after which date there is no interruption up to the present time.—Alexander H. Allen, Town Clerk of Mendon.

No. 2395. V I. HENRY S. THAYER.

Fifth child of Gen'l Bezaleel and Margaret Thayer, was a young man of great promise, beloved by all who knew him; he was well educated, always had a good word for everyone, young or old, and was a gentleman in every respect. When in his twentieth year he desired to visit his brother, in California, and as his sister and her busband were going, he embraced the opportunity to visit the golden country. They sailed from New York, 5 January, 1853, and at Panama embarked aboard that ill-fated vessel, Columbus, with 1100 persons, of whom 111 died. The ship got disabled, and was obliged to make port at Acapulco, on the Mexican coast, 1 February, 1853, where he and his sister landed and were taken with yellow fever. He died 7 February, 1823, and was buried in the American grounds of that city. His sister survived the shock and is now (1873) living. The following lines were written by a friend:

Far off, on the Pacific's shore,
  Where Acapulco's walls arise,
He sleeps, whose loss we now deplore
  With aching hearts and weeping eyes.

He sleeps where they who shared with him
  The dangers of the ocean wave;
With eyes that had with tears grown dim,
  They laid him within an early grave.

A light has vanished from the home
  Where love still holds his memory dear;
As if a star in heaven's blue dome
  Should shine awhile—then disappear.

And joys from out parental hearts
  Have passed, to be revered no more,
Until they cross the stream which parts
  The mortal from the spirit shore.

That stream is neither dark nor wide
  Between us and the dear one dead;
But dwellers, listening on earth's side,
  Hear from beyond the angels tread.

And over that calm, Heaven-lit stream,
  Familiar music softly swells,
And well-remembered voices seem
  Seem sweet as chimes of morning bells.

There on that shore sweeps no storm;
  He lives, and watch o'er us shall keep,
Though over his dear earthly form
  The vines of Acapulco creep.

For death o'er life has no control;
That thought is born of gloomy creeds;
The clay house crumbles, but the soul
On to its heaven built mansion speeds.

Farewell, dear friend! thy life so brief,
Thy noble deeds and early grave
Shall teach us, in this hour of grief,
To trust in Him whose arm can save.

Though many hopes with thee have died,
And many eyes are wet with tears,
Still, love shall keep thy memory bright
Through all the gloom of future years.

Thus have we halted here to pay
This tribute to thy worth, dear friend;
We now resume life's march, and pray
To meet thee at our journey's end.

WINDSOR, VT., July 30, 1860. GILBERT THAYER.

Dr. Thurber, speaking of the Thayer family, said that there lived in Bellingham, about the middle of the last century and some years after, a Dr. Jonathan Thayer, reputed to be a man of science and of high standing in his profession, who died and left a son by the name of Micah, who married a Howard of Mendon and moved to Ware, Mass. Micah visited Mendon with his wife some forty years ago. There is an incident in the life of this Dr. Thayer which has often been related by the aged people of Bellingham, which was very extraordinary, and reported by them to be true. In the summer season he was called to visit a patient in an urgent case, which he declined to do, and assigned as a reason for not going, that some great misfortune was about to befall some one of his family before he could return. However, at the repeated solicitations of the messenger, he reluctantly consented to attend the call, but hastened with much speed to return. He immediately inquired after his absent son, Nehemiah, and exclaimed, "he is drowned," which after a long search proved to be a fact. The boy had wandered with another boy to a deep place in the Charles River, surrounded with wood, where they ventured to bathe some time. At length young Thayer sank and rose no more.—Daniel Thurber, M. D., Mendon.

P. S.—The above named Micah Thayer married Lois Thayer, daughter of Moses and Rachel Thayer, ot Bellingham, 17 November, 1763,—not Howard, as above stated.

Gen. Simeon Thayer was born in Mendon, Mass., 3 April, 1735. Previous to the Revolutionary War he went to Providence, R. I., where he lived when the war commenced. He commenced his military career under Benedict Arnold, and marched to Quebec, where he was when Gen. Montgomery fell. After this he returned and joined one of the Rhode Island Regiments, in which he soon distinguished himself. His regiment, commanded by Col. Olney, was stationed at Red Bank, while Fort Miffin on the opposite side of the Delaware River, was commanded by Col. Smith, late Gen. Smith, Mayor of Baltimore. The attack at Red Bank was led on by Count Demass, who commanded on that occasion 1200 Hessian soldiers, while the defense consisted of less than 500 strong. The Count fell, mortally wounded, while in an attempt to storm the fort. After the retreat, Major Thayer went out of the fort and assisted in bringing the wounded Count into the fort in his arms, where every attention was rendered him. During the night Major Thayer passed over with a detachment of troops to the assistance of Col. Smith, at Fort Miffin. On the next day the action was resumed on the latter part wiih a detachment of the enemy from the Pennsylvania shore, supported by their armed vessels in the river. On this day the brave Col. Smith was wounded, after which the command devolved upon Major Thayer, who again succeeded in forcing the enemy to retreat. He was also with Gen. Wayne at the storming of Stony Point and was foremost in the ranks. He bravely distinguished himself throughout the war. He was a member of the Rhode Island Society of Cincinnatus, and at the time of his death resided in Cumberland, R. I.—Preserved Smith Thayer.

NOTE.—October 21, 1800, died on his farm in Cumberland township, R. I., in the 63d year of his age, Simeon Thayer, the brave volunteer defender of Mud Fort, now Fort Miffin, on the Delaware, at which time he was Major. Went with Arnold as a

Captain on the expedition against Quebec, where he was made a prisoner in the 2d barracks in that city; was also in the battle of Monmouth, where he was wounded by a canon ball. After the war he was appointed Brigadier General of the Rhode Island militia.—American Courier, 17 October, 1850.

ONE YEAR IN HEAVEN.

One year ago to-day, Lizzie,
In mine I held thy white hand,
With thy young spirit pure and bright,
Bidding the world a long good night;

Sent upward in immortal light
To join in heaven the angel band.

I miss thee everywhere, Lizzie,
More than here on earth be known;
Yet in my loneliness I feel
Thy spirit near me when I kneel,
And angel whisperings reveal
The truth that I am not alone.

Each old familiar walk, Lizzie,
Where we so oft together strayed,
Since thou art gone, to me the while
Seem cheerless as some ocean isle
On which the sunbeams never smile,
To light the everlasting shade.

When shall we meet again, Lizzie,
To consummate our earth-born love?
Must other years pass slowly by,
So like clouds on a summer sky,
Ere my appointed time to die
Shall reanimate our souls above?

If so, in all this life, Lizzie,
Be thou, dear one, my angel guide;
And when this bleeding heart of mine
Lies cold and still along with thine,
Then may I clasp thy form divine
And claim thee as my spirit bride.
